

Welcome Nina and Rich

Apt.# 548

Nina and Rich have been Providence residents living in the Elmhurst neighborhood very close to Providence College for the past 22 years, so in some ways, moving to Laurelmead will not be a big change for us. Prior to moving to Providence we moved around a lot due to the requirements of Rich's work, first as a college professor and later as an employee of Battelle Memorial Institute as a consultant to the U.S. Department of Energy. After his retirement from Battelle, Rich was appointed Assistant Professor of Medical Science at Brown Medical School, where he co-taught in the Doctoring Program to second year medical students. Meanwhile, Nina was a stay at home Mom for our three daughters during their preschool years. After they started school, she began to teach school at different levels from preschool to graduate school during her teaching career. In her other work experiences, she worked in analyzing science and medical research data and as a family therapist. She also co-taught in the Doctoring Program to second year medical students at Brown Medical School. Now, Nina and Rich are looking forward to starting a new chapter in our lives at Laurelmead in a lovely setting with new friends, some of whom we have already met and others who we are looking forward to meeting.
